

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1885.

SENATOR BLACKBURN has returned to his home at Versailles.

The Mercury boasts that Carlisle is the cleanest town in the State.

It is said that Col. Charles S. Denby, of Evansville, Ind., will be appointed Minister to China.

EHRHART MOORE, of Lewis County, has been granted a pension. His arrears amounted to $900.

THERE is every probability that the iron-workers at Pittsburgh will strike against a reduction of wages.

The report of the State Commissioner of Agriculture for April says of tobacco: There is no change in the report of this crop since last month. An unusually large crop was planted and raised in Kentucky last year, and a large proportion of it is yet unraised. From present indications there will be a much less acreage planted this season.

The first dismissal of a clerk within the grades protected by the Civil Service Law for offensive partisanship, is said to be that of Chauncey G. Heath, of Wisconsin, from a $1,400 clerkship in the Third Auditor's office of the Treasury Department. The reason assigned for the removal is the late part taken by Mr. Heath in the late campaign, while on leave of absence from the department. Congressman Bragg, of whose district Heath is a resident, is said to have urged his removal.

MR. CARLISLE's objection to the appointment of Judge Wickliffe, as District Attorney, has been considered by the President and it is now thought probable that Beckner, whom Mr. Carlisle is backing, will be named for the place. It is said at Washington that the President is less inclined than ever to appoint anybody supported by Senators Beck or Blackburn, and is disposed to give careful heed to the suggestions of Mr. Carlisle. The appointment of Beckner, it is conceded, would be a very strong one.

The largest dry goods sale ever made took place in New York City one day last week. The attendance was large and consisted of buying from all parts of the country, 20,000 packages of goods were sold at auction at prices near the regular schedule, and brought the enormous total of $1,750,000. There are two theories on which these satisfactory results rest. One is that the buyers had come so far that they were bound to purchase at some price; the other that they believe the times are growing brighter. Possibly there is some truth in both explanations.

THE NEW YORK Legislature has passed, by a large majority, a bill prohibiting the construction of tenement houses in New York City of a greater height than eighty feet, even in streets that are more than sixty feet wide. Eighty eminent New York physicians supported the bill on sanitary grounds, and the fire department and the board of underwriters earnestly protested against the further building of such colossal structures as dangerous alike to life and property. There is no other city in the United States where tenement houses have been carried so high in the air, or where other houses were so much overshadowed and endangered by them. The bill was not passed too soon, for preparations were being made to run up more of the story blocks, which will now have to be kept down to an elevation of eighty feet or less.

GREAT FIRES.

South Mountain a Scene of Fierce Flames and Awful Grandeur.

MIDDLETOWN, Md., May 21.—The most extensive mountain fire that has ever been known in this section is now raging on South Mountain, south of this place. It broke out near Black Rock, and has been burning fiercely ever since. A large number of men are fighting the flames night and day, but so soon as they make progress in one place the fire starts in another, showing plainly that some one is firing the woods. A fire started in another section and spread over the mountain. The night at all times is one of awful grandeur, and at day dense clouds of black smoke and steam rise from the flames shot high above them. The track of the fire is over two miles in length, and thousands of acres of land have been swept bare. One man lost 5,000 rails and the general loss is very heavy, though no dwellings have been in danger. A young man living near Wolfville is suspected of being the incendiary, and he is being closely watched.

FAMILY WAR PREVENTED.

Serious Complications of an Impending Wedding Resulting Disastrously.

LYNNCHBURG, Va., May 21.—At Feller Mill village, Unadilla county, a general fight occurred between two families and their connections, in which pistols and other weapons were used. The officers of the law, however, had heard that the affray would take place and were prepared and stopped the fight before it became a riot. A short time ago a handsome widow was engaged to be married to a prominent young man of the village, who, on his last visit to her home discovered her father and a well known physician, together. What he had discovered so worked upon the young man's mind that he shortly afterwards died a suicide. The parties concerned all occupy high social positions and until now the matter has been kept from the public.

A $200,000 TRADE.

CINCINNATI, O., May 21.—Albert G. Netter sold to a party $200,000 of Hamilton county 4 percent 30-50 bonds, and $100,000 of 5 percent ditto, but did not know what he was doing. The bonds, which he had traded through Simon &amp; Hummel brokers. When asked what price he had realized by the sale he said that he had promised not to tell, "but," said he, "it was as low as side figure." The sale was not reported at the stock exchange, where much interest in it was manifested.

Other citizens and neighboring farmers were also swindled by the sleek rascal.

Prices at noon were down from 1 1/2 to 1 1/4. At the time of the writing the market is dull and inactive.

FASTING AND PRAYING

HOW THE REBEL, RIEL, SPENDS HIS TIME IN CONFINEMENT.

Said to Act Like a Coward, and Spends His Time Kissing the Crucifix. He Feels He Will be Hanged—The Insanity Dodge—Northwest News.

WINSTED, MAN., May 21.—Rebels continue to surrender to Middleton by the dozen, and over 150 guns have already been received, comprising Winchester and fowling pieces, breech-loaders and flintlocks. As the rebels come in they are asked their names, and, if suspected as ring-leaders, are made prisoners; otherwise they are allowed to go home. The rebel loss is something tremendous, far greater than was imagined. Father Louson states that he buried fifty-nine bodies of half-breeds. From information given him by a half-breed woman he believed the rebel dead amounts to between seventy and eighty half-breeds and Indians. He also expects that many more will die of their wounds, as they have been secreted or carried away, and have no medical attendance.

Two of Riel's councilors who are wounded, being asked for their opinion of Riel, said he had gone down in their estimation, as he had duped and deserted his followers. A scout has been dispatched through the country to tell the rebels if they come in and surrender they will be allowed to go back to their farms, except the ring-leaders and members of Riel's council, who will be given a fair trial. A scout succeeded in finding where Dumont was lying, twelve miles from Batouche, and by an Indian messenger asked him to surrender himself, promising him a fair trial. Dumont returned answer that he thought the scout was fooling him, but that he would think over the matter. It is most probable that he will surrender eventually if he finds escape impossible. The scout succeeded in inducing a large number of half-breeds to come in.

In the room where Riel's council met was found a paper containing the following list of councilors: Jean Baptiste Boucher, Donald Ross, Pierre Henry, Gabriel Dumont, Joseph Trethier, Bass Bull, N. Dornan, E. Parenteau, E. Champagne, Philippe Garret, secretary of council; H. Dumas, adjutant; Octave Bognier, assistant secretary of the council; Joseph Vandal, lieutenant of guards; Antoine Champagne, A. Furgon, captain of the horse guards; Alexis Elie, Elie Hala, the Sioux interpreter; N. Gervais and Thomas Vermette, messengers of council. Eleven of the number are prisoners and one is killed.

A priest, who went into Middleton's camp, announced that 157 half-breeds had been killed during the fighting. Among the number was Chief White Cap, who was killed by Capt. Howard. The latter distinguished himself by capturing Riel's standard.

Riel acts like a craven coward, and spends his time alternately praying and kissing the crucifix. He will doubtless play the lunatic role, and already some of his religious sympathizers are paying the way for such a course by giving it out that he has always been crazy. E. N. Chammette, who was engineer of the Beaufort Artyon, Quebec, when Riel was an inmate in 1878, and saw Riel every day for two years, says he was perfectly sane. He believed he was only sent there for political protection. Riel then expressed a threat that the Northwest would suffer before he was done with it. He was never treated as an inmate, but had perfect freedom about the institution.

In the rebel government papers was found a plan of the intended attack on the troops the night before the Fish Creek battle was fought. The troops have marched to Prince Albert, but are expected to return soon.

There is much excitement in Calgary, citizens being agitated over the reported proximity of Indians to the town. Big Bear's band was reported within forty miles of the town. Col. Aymot telegraphed for more troops. A courier arrived in from McLeod, asking for assistance there, as the bloods are causing apprehension. The Indians have made another raid at Red Deer river on McKenzie and Richards' houses. Two companies of the Winnipeg light infantry started for Edmonton under Commander Lewis, with seventy-eight tons of supplies. Signal fires were burning on the hills, showing that the Indians are making preparations.

To Armstrong, the man who captured him, Riel said Lawrence Clark, of the Hudson Bay company, precipitated the uprising. The half-breeds were celebrating the feast of St. Joseph when Clark arrived from Winnipeg. He first mocked their religion and then told them that 500 soldiers were crossing to join in the festival, and would give them all they wanted in the way of ceremony if they did not go back to their homes and abandon their nonsense. Riel was absent from Batouche at the time, and on his return found his people all in arms and determined to plunder the stores before the troops mentioned by Clark arrived. Riel denies that he was the leader of the rebellion. He asserts his innocence, and says that he can prove that he wanted to go back to the United States, but would not be allowed to do so. He expects to be hanged, and devotes the greater part of his time to fasting and praying.

Among the rebel papers captured at Batouche are minutes of the council, in which Albert Monkman, who is held, was heavily implicated in the rebellion, taking a prominent part in the meetings and having command of a number of men at Duck Lake. He has been put in irons. Among others held are Fisher, the rebel governor, two Tourons from Fish Creek; Lamontagne, rebel musketry instructor; Jackson, Riel's secretary, and Dumont's lieutenant. Two of the Touron brothers were killed at Batouche.

Trouble Among Cattlemen.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 21.—Information has been received here of a new move on the part of cattlemen in the northern part of the Texas Panhandle, to prevent the driving of Southern Texas cattle over their range. A herd passing northward was stopped at Texas on the Canadian river by the sheriff acting under a writ in trespass and the matter has been carried into the courts with the intention of making it a test case.
